The V1 range of airboxes is developed in conjunction with Arma Speed, a firm well versed in carbon fibre product development. Each air box is a custom design, to fit within the space vacated by your OE air box, which will this guarantee a straightforward installation process. Carbon fibre has long been one of the most exotic materials known to man, thanks to its extreme strength and light weight. Pipercross has long understood the value that this brings and has now unveiled a range of products entirely constructed from it.
